GOVERNOR TO ATTEND COOS BAY RAILROAD CARNIVAL IN AUGUST

Prominent State Officials Also Plan Trip On Business and Pleasure

Responding to many invitations from friends in southwest Oregon, and those in charge of the celebrations which will mark the completion of the new railroad to Marshfield and North Bend, Governor Withycombe has decided to make a brief trip into Coos and Curry counties, probably about the middle of August. It is now planned by the Marshfield and North Bend committees to hold their railroad celebration August 17-19. There will also be an agate carnival at Port Orford, in Curry county, just prior to those dates. The governor and his party, in addition to participating in these events, will make an effort to reach the larger communities of those two counties.

The fish and game commission has already contemplated a trip to the Coos Bay country and the members will now arrange to make the trip in conjunction with the governor's. A number of matters pertaining to the work of the commission in that territory involving the possible establishment of a hatchery and also in connection with commercial fishing, have been placed before the commission members recently. Local people have been urging personal investigation, and this will be made in August.

It is probable also that Adjutant General George A. White will accompany the governor. The adjutant general is looking into the possibilities of establishing a new military unit of the National Guard in Coos county.

Stayton News

(Capital Journal Special Service)
 Stayton, Or., June 15.—A very pleasant surprise party was held Tuesday night at the C. K. Road home southeast of Aumsville in honor of C. K. Road.

It was planned to have this surprise party last February in honor of his 80th birthday, but due to the sickness of friends it was postponed. Several were deprived of attendance even this time on account of sickness. John Lewis, of near Aumsville, after planning and sending out the invitations to Mr. Road's many friends and acquaintances, was deprived of attending on account of being on the sick list.

Mr. Road had gone to bed on account of not feeling very well and was unaware of the guests coming until nearly all of them had arrived when his wife informed that friends were there to see him. He arose and greeted the people and seemed to enjoy the rest of the day immensely.

At the noon hour the guests were seated about the banquet tables laden with good things. Thus seated about the tables the guests had most enjoyed themselves feasting and chatting, drinking in the fellowship and spirit of the occasion.

Late in the afternoon all bade their host goodbye and departed for their homes feeling that if they ever met on such an occasion again it would be because of the providence of God.

Those present were: Mesdames W. E. Thomas, Frank Babu, Claud Boone, H. C. Porter, H. C. Von Boehren, M. Chambers, Roy Porter, W. K. Winslow, Mayro McKinnay, Farley, G. A. G. Moore, Ben Robinson, Ed McKinney, Abner Lewis, Mary Howd, John Darby, Perry Darby, Sallie Miller, Sarah Cronwell, Pannie Ball, Lloyd Read, Robert McKinnay, K. Read, R. L. Purnam, Messrs W. E. Thomas, Claud Boone, H. C. Porter, H. C. Von Boehren, Roy Porter, W. K. Winslow, G. A. G. Moore, Ben Robinson, Ed McKinney, Abner Lewis, Joan Darby, Perry Darby, C. K. Read, Geo. Read, Harry Porter, Chas. Porter, Sid Porter, R. L. Putnam, Misses Marie Von Boehren, Grace Von Boehren, Rosa Winslow, Anna McKinney, Ketta Babu, Viola Read, Lenore Putnam, Pauline Reibold, Masters Kenneth and Harold Porter, Robert Winslow, Wm. and Crawford Darby, Herbert Read, Rex Porter.

Joe Korinek, who recently sold his interest in the hardware firm of Korinek & Melike to Mr. Melike, intends to go to Portland to live provided he can sell his home here. His brothers want him to come here and take charge of the labeling department of their veterinary medical establishment.

Next Monday is the school election. There is one director to be chosen and a clerk. Also the patrons of the district will be required to vote on a school tax in order to raise the money for the maintenance of the school.

J. R. Gardner has been tearing down his old building next to his place of business. It had become such an old fire trap that insurance companies would not take insurance on buildings near by only at a very high premium. Some day we hope to see a new building there.

The new Young building is rapidly nearing completion. This new building will add greatly to the looks of the main street of Stayton.

NOMINATIONS TO

 as a "poor show" by visitors. But under plans considered just prior to the convention opening today, all thought of a hoodoo in nominating on Friday was at a side. It might be added, incidentally that this was another instance of Wisconsin domination, since the president let it be known that Friday had always been conditions exist in their appliances.

Trading Was Light Prices Shading Off

New York, June 15.—The New York Evening Sun's financial review today said:
 Pronounced heaviness in Anglo French bonds was an interesting if not the most important feature in the stock market today. There was nothing in the overnight news or in the known developments during the session to account for the action selling which carried the securities down half a point from 95 3/4 to 95 1/4 with only a moderate recovery, but financial interests found a fairly satisfactory explanation in the widespread rumors regarding the possibility of another large English loan, coupled with the impending negotiations for a French credit of $100,000,000.

First prices were but slightly changed in either direction and while the undertone was strong speculative impulse was lacking. In the absence of any fresh public buying dealing continued largely professional.
 United States Steel ruled strong at a fraction improvement, but the same issue displayed no great vitality and there was a pronounced decrease in activity as the session progressed.
 Trading in Wall Street was limited to narrow movements in special issues in the late afternoon. Steel common was strong while railways were heavy, though extremely dull.

GOOD HOP YEAR

The warm dry weather now prevailing is making hops grow rapidly and is tending to keep down lice and other vermin. Growers in the vicinity of Eugene are giving their hop fields thorough cultivation, and in some cases are going over the vines to train up stray vines which had not taken hold of the wires. The vines have all reached the cross wires and are spreading out nicely.—Eugene Guard.

A Rare Political Event

Old timers in democratic ranks recalled today that if Marshall is re-nominated—and there was a generally conceded belief he would be—it would be an almost unique political convention. In only one or two instances heretofore, have vice presidents been re-named. Political expediency heretofore has directed that the running mate job be switched. But political expediency this year dictates that effort be made to offset the republican bid for Indiana's electoral vote made in the naming of Fairbanks for vice president, by renominating Marshall, another Indiana.

Prom indications today, Marshall's name will be the only one submitted to the convention as a vice presidential candidate. Illinois boosters for Roger Sullivan practically decided not to suggest their "favorite son" as a nominee and the Missouri delegation is expected to follow suit in deciding not to present Governor Major's name. This would leave, as Marshall's only opponent, John H. Moreshead of Nevada, who has all along been considered out of the running.

The retiring national chairman, William E. McCombs, today asked President Wilson to indicate his choice of a campaign manager by Friday. All the discussion among democrats today was tant Homer S. Cummings of Connecticut, president vice chairman, would be elevated to the chairmanship.

Will Name Gerard

St. Louis, Mo., June 15.—The New York delegation this afternoon decided to cast its ninety votes for James E. Gerard, American ambassador to Berlin for vice president when the ballot is taken. The vote will be purely as a compliment to the ambassador.

Carter Glass for Secretary

St. Louis, Mo., June 15.—Representative Carter Glass, of Virginia, according to reliable information here this afternoon, is to be secretary of the democratic national committee. His selection, it was said, would closely follow formal announcement of the choice of Vance McCormick as chairman of the committee.

Portland Street Car System Operated at Loss Says Campbell

"The Portland Railway, Light & Power company, if conditions do not change for the better, will be compelled in a short time to come to the public utilities commission for relief." This is the opinion of Thomas K. Campbell, member of the public utilities commission, according to the Portland Journal.

The commission since 1913 has been making an investigation into the valuations of the street railway company, and on Saturday next will hand down its preliminary findings made as a result of this three year investigation.

It was during a discussion regarding the promulgation of those findings that Mr. Campbell made his statement regarding the company.

"I am not speaking for the commission," Mr. Campbell said. "But I am telling the results of the information I have gained from a three year study of the situation."

"I am holding no brief for the Portland Railway, Light & Power company but I am simply stating conditions as they exist. The company is giving as good, or better, service, than any similar company in the United States."

Jitneys Take $1,500 a Day.
 You can ride 18 miles for a nickel and the people of Portland have been getting that service for the past year or more, furnished to them at a loss by the company. Jitney competition is costing the company $1,500 a day, taken from the cream of the company's business. Light and power competition is taking the cream of that classification of the company's service out of the downtown district. Twenty cents out of every dollar of gross receipts earned by the company is paid to the city and county governments for bridge tolls, street improvement assessments and similar charges.

Operate at Loss.
 "The city either can not, or will not, regulate the jitney operation, with the result that the cream of the close-in traffic is handled by the jitney, which pays no tolls for bridges or street use, or gives no revenue to the city."

"The result of this is that the company is, and has been, operating at a loss, even figured on the basis of valuations allowed by the commission. The outcome will be, in my opinion, that the company will be forced to come to the commission for relief."

Question Is Serious.
 "Will that mean a readjustment of transportation charges by the establishment of zone rates, or some other plan?" Mr. Campbell was asked.

"Do not know," he answered. "That is a question for the future, and a serious one. It would be a serious step to charge more than five cents for street car fare from the suburban districts of the city. It would mean a serious depreciation of property values outside the five cent zone and great loss to the people who have purchased property in those districts." Give Findings Saturday.

"I do not want to hazard a statement of what may come in the future. I am only stating what appears to me to be the facts, from knowledge gained from the investigations that have just been concluded."

The commission will announce its findings in the valuation investigation Saturday.
